SEA SERPENT .- Capt. Somerville, of the steamer Durham, reports having seen a large sea monster, | by selling an old, and therefore inferior or dangerous resembling a serpent, off Brown's Island, coast of article. New Zealand. Thirty feet of the monster reared perpendicularly out of the water." The crew and passengers corroborate the statement. DECADENCE OF THE WHALING BUSINESS .- Much has been said and written about the decay of this once flourishing business; but there is still some life and animation left in it, as the following statement shows: During the past three years New Bedford alone has sent out the following vessels; In 1875, 24 vessels; 1876, 33; 1877, 39; 1878 (to Aug. 10) 25. There are now twelve vessels in that port, most of which are fitting out for new cruises. Advices from sea indicate the return of twelve vessels during the year, having on board 2,310 bbls. of sperm, and 8,-750 bbls, whale oil. There also two merchantmen, from Honolulu and New Zealand, soon due, with 2,-159 bbls. sperm and 4,566 bbls whale oil from the New Bedford fleet now out. The importations into the United States from January 1 to Aug. 13, 1878, from the fleet out, exceed those for the same period of 1877, by the following figures; Sperm, 4,296 bbls. whale, 3,196 bbls., and bone, 40,314 lbs. Learning that Chief Joseph and a portion of his tribe of Nez Perces were to pass through the city this morning from Fort Leavenworth to the Indian Territory, I rose early and was at the depot when they arrived, and a more deplorable set one could hardly ever look upon. The "fair Indian maiden" was not among that crowd. There were four hundred and ten in all, mostly old men and squaws, and tiny papooses with their mothers. Very few of the "braves" of the tribe-no! they had fallen before the fire and bullets of the white man, and had gone to their "happy bunting grounds." I boarded the train and made every fort to obtain an interview with Chief Joseph but he had no desire to see the " pale face." He was sick in body and sick at heart, so I was compelled to content myself with but a single glimpse as he lay guarded and screened in one corner of the coach, while a faithful brave stood by gently fanning him. I made my way to the interpreter and gathered from him that all were dissatisfied with their removal, and Joseph had said, . But for his tribe and people he would have preferred for his bones to have bleached where he surrendered last fall." During their stay at Fort Leavenworth of about eight months many of them have died and their ranks have been considerably thinned There are now some forty on the sick list, one corpse now on the train, and others not expected to live. ## FOREICN NEWS.

By the arrival on Monday of the P. M. steamer City of Sydney, we have dates from the Eastern States and Europe to the 1st Inst., and from San Francisco to the 2d, the day of sailing. The City of Sydney made the extraordinary run down of seven days, two hours and fifty minutes. The news from all quarters is interesting. Yellow lever is gaining ground in all the Southern cities with frightful rapidity, and is gradually increasing in severity and fatality. It is felt that the worst is yet to come. Appeals to the Northern cities for help are answered in the promptest and most generous manner. The warm sympathy shown by the Northern people in this hour of their affliction will not soon be forgotten by the children of the " Sunny South."

A few extracts will suffice to give our readers a glance at the terrible scenes of misery, suffering and death. Measures are rapidly becoming general for the relief of the sufferers.

NEW ORLEANS, August 28 .- The Times correspondent at Canton, Mississippi, under date of the 27th, says : " Arrived here Sunday last, There is not a single business house open, except two drug stores. With once a population of 3,500, now only seventy-five whites are to be found here. The Mayor and his family are sick, and the Board of Aldermen have fled. The Court House is locked up, and the officers have gone to some safe place. There is nothing but hearses and coffins to be seen on the streets. Not a single case of yellow fever has been doctored successfully. No person attacked has recovered."

NEW ORLEANS, August 28 .- A dispatch from Canton, Miss., to the Heward Association mays: Fever cases are increasing."

A dispatch from the Howards of Port Gibson says: "The fever is very fatal, and there is no abatement. There have been two hundred and thirty cases, and thirty five deaths to-day. Ice is wanted more than anything else. The nurses are doing well. Our expenses are $150 per day. New York, St. Louis, Jackson and Columbus are alding. There are but one or two convalencent persons so

The above was in answer to a dispatch asking if further assistance was required.

Vicksbung, August 28 .- A light rain is falling to-night. There have been 125 new cases of fever in the past twenty-four hours, and fifteen deaths. Among the new cases are Dr. O'Leary and acting Mayor J. F. Dale.

The Chicago Tribune's Memphis special says : Visitor Mansford, of the Howards, encountered a scene of horror upon entering a house on Commerce street to-day. Upon a bed lay the liylur and the dead—a busband cold and stiff, a wife III the western border of the State, and just south of the agony of dissolution. On the floor, tossing in delirium, were two children of this pair, and beside them their consins, two little girls, themselves sick. To complete the sadness of the scene and give it a touch of disgusting horror, a drunken man and a drunken woman-parents of the little fever-baked girls-were reeling and cursing and stumbling over the dying and the dead. Two hundred poor people were given transportation from the city to-day. It is hard, and work-harder still for the lack of any star of hope in the dark cloud

The Chicago Times' New Orleans special says Startling cases of destitution are being developed every day. This morning, the office of the Howard Association was so densely packed by appli cants for relief that it was almost impossible gain admissio

Several well-authenticated cases will indicate the extreme misery some persons bave reached. The driver of the charity wagon to-day, while passing No. 290 Poydras street, heard a shrick of agony within, and entering the premises, he quickly ascended a flight of rickety stairs leading to a side alley. He hurried into a back bed-room, and was startled to behold the yellow corpse of a child lying upon a filthy bed. Seated in a rocking chair and clutching a palmetto fan in one hand and resting beavily upon the bed, sat a woman whom, upon closer inspection, he was shocked to see was stark and stiff. The cries continued, and he burried to the front apartment, into which the room opened. There, upon the floor, lay a mother and daughter, dead. The older woman had evidently thrown berself on the floor in a frenzy of delirium Upon the only bed in the room, writhing with fever, lay the man whose calls attracted attention. day that a neighbor was making repairs on his and a child eighteen months old had at the time house, and so frequent were the applications for | crawled over her dead mother's breast. That house since the epidemic commenced.

At No. 154 Bienville street, a long narrow alley -so narrow that one can penetrate it only with house the Howards discovered a family of seven, five of whom were delirious-one, a child of two years, dead-and a mother prostrate upon a palle tears, stated that, utterly unassisted and unable to move, she lay in the pangs of childbirth and saw her little daughter die. A volume might be written of horrors experienced by the very poor. But these cases are cited to show how greatly the relief extended to them is needed. The Tribiom's New Orleans special says: The death-rate is steadily advancing ; fifty-seven died to-day; no part of the city is exempt. The epidemic, compared with that of 1867, is three times as fatal. It is thought that the pestilence will not cease before December. Sept. 1: New cases, 260, and deaths 88. New York, August 28 .- Liberal collections are making everywhere for yellow fever sufferers. NEW YORK, August 29.—The Tribune says: Congressman Acklen, of Louisians, who is in town raising money for the fever sufferers, succeeded in getting nearly $25,000. In speaking last night be said: "These generous gifts by the Northern people to us in the hour of our sore distress will do more to heal sectional prowill eventually be extensively grown here, as than all the speeches and blue and gray meet-they find a ready market.
